

Dr Sujata Singhi

Dr. Sujata Singhi is the author of the book, "Power of Sound", a book which has been described by an Indian political leader as a "Boon to Mankind". She is also an international master Sound bowl healer and trainer along with being a motivational speaker, Licensed NLP trainer and life coach, an international educationist who was associated with the Cambridge (UK) education and the prestigious International Baccalaureate (Geneva) in India.

She was also conferred the "Edupreneur of the year-2017 award" by the prestigious organisation Bharat Nirman, Delhi which recognises people who have contributed towards nation building. She was also awarded the Woman of Substance award by the Municipal Corporation of Mumbai, India for her motivational talks towards environment protection. Besides setting up the "Creativity in education" programme, she has been a speaker on Sound therapy to a vast audience at Rotary Club, Lions Club WEP, Law universities, schools and hospitals.

She was honoured with a doctorate in Life Skill Education with specialisation in NLP and sound therapy for her thesis, talks and work on wellness and Joyous Living which has touched the lives of more than 300,000 people in the past 3 years. This doctorate was conferred by the wing of the HRD Government of India and recognised by the United Nations.

She has also been conferred a second doctorate on Wellness with specialisation in Happiness and Living. This doctorate is in association with the Hopewill organisation, HRD Government of India and the Australian associates.

Dr Sujata's vision is to spread awareness of the ancient systems of healing through sound therapy, especially using Himalayan singing bowls, and to Educate, Empower and help people Evolve to reach their highest potential.